DR. RONALD SKINEMWELL

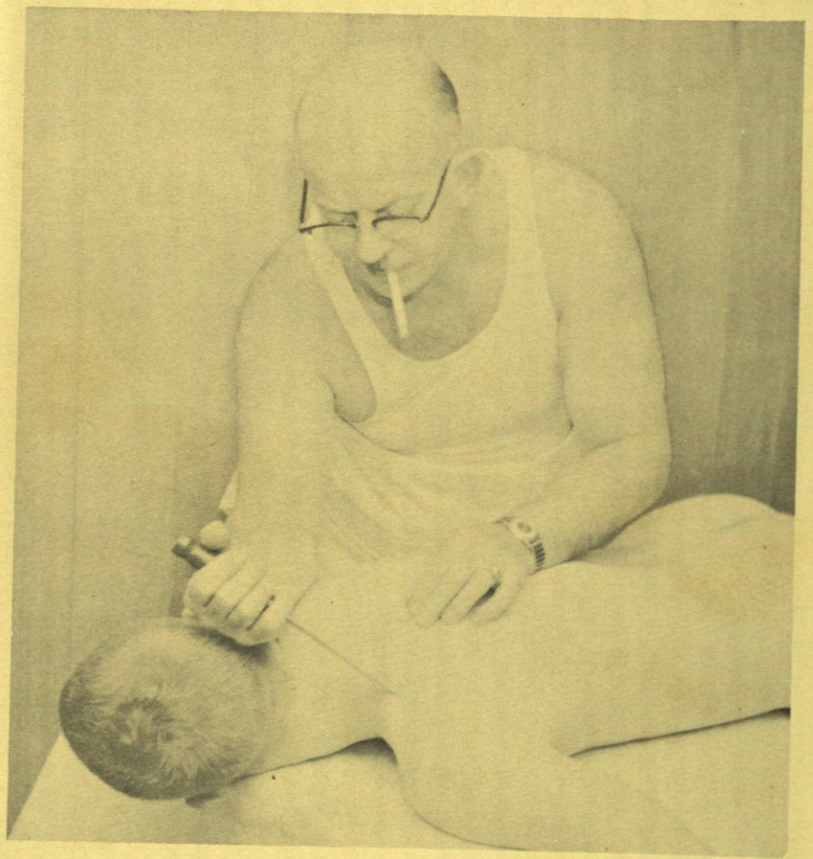

Photo by Emily Leister
Courtesy MEDICAL PRESS

Ronald Skinemwell was a prisoner of the Nazis during the 2nd world war, and during his 3 year internment had many opportunities to learn first hand some of the unusual household articles that could be made from human skin. As a youth, Ronald lived in northern Minnesota and one of his hobbies was hunting and trapping. From skinning beaver, rabbit, bear, and an occasional moose, it was a simple step for him to develop the art of skinning human beings, a hobby which he vividly describes in his latest novel.

Skinemwell obtained his degree in medicine at the University of Cuba. His educational training together with his practical experience enables him to speak and write with authority on all phases of skinning. Here is a book that will appeal to every hobbyist. Hundreds of requests from friends and relatives who have seen some of Dr. Skinemwell's human skin creations has prompted him to reveal in print, for the first time, the details of this unusual hobby.

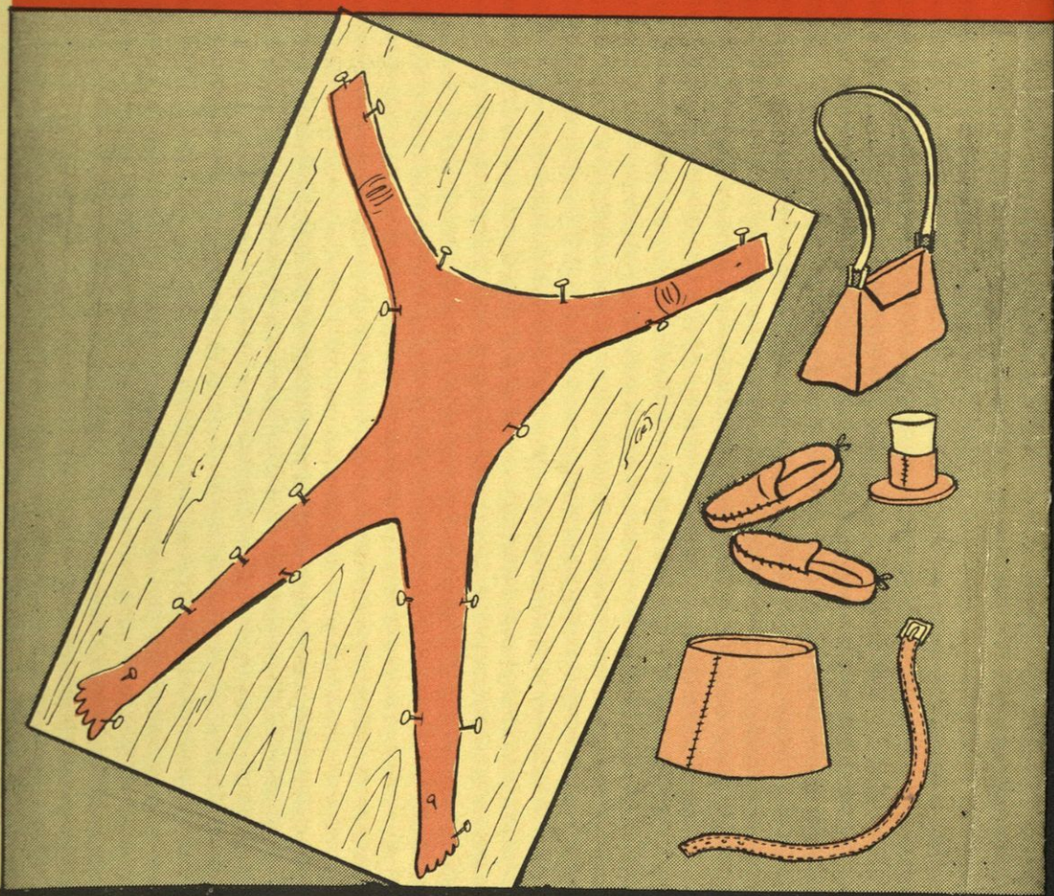
This article has not appeared in any form prior to book publication.

KAHL BROS., TOLEDO, OHIO

101 Things To Make With HUMAN SKIN

MEDICAL HOBBY PRESS

101 things to make with HUMAN SKIN



DR. RONALD SKINEMWELL

Comic Book Jackets

- By -

REGINALD S. LEISTER

This series of ridiculous and amusing book jackets was developed to provide thousands of Americans with an opportunity to amaze and amuse their friends and party guests with a new and different form of subtle humor.

As the author himself has discovered from personal observation, the biggest thrill which comes to the owner of a set of these comic book jackets lies in his ability to put them on regular books and display them in rather conspicuous places in the living or recreation room before a party. Then notice the looks of consternation and complete bewilderment when a guest picks up a book to examine it for himself, and observe the rather sheepish grin that comes over the unsuspecting guest when he discovers how he has been taken in.

High school and college students will discover these book jackets can provide them with a never-ending source of fun for fooling members of the faculty, as well as fellow students, without the danger of being expelled from the institution of learning. Picture the look of surprise on the librarian's face or the teacher in charge of a study hall when she sees a student intently poring over tomorrow's assignment for Chemistry, and the jacket on the text book reads "Forgery-Self-Taught".

Persons desirous of attracting attention or of making new friends and influencing people under rather unusual conditions will discover these book jackets are truly the answer to their problem, especially if displayed while commuting on the bus or trolley; when traveling by plane or train; when

(Continued on back flap)

(Continued from front flap)

lying on the beach; while waiting for a friend on a street corner, or in a hotel lobby; or when dining alone in a strange restaurant.

Testimonial letters from traveling salesmen state that this new type of book jacket is worth its weight in gold as a stimulant for lagging conversation with a buyer, or as a means of breaking the ice with a tough purchasing agent, especially if the book is casually laid on the prospect's desk and then simply wait until his curiosity at seeing such a book can contain itself no longer.

Persons faced with the problem of buying a gift for the man or woman who has everything, will find an economical and satisfying solution by presenting a set of these jackets.

Those who enjoy giving books to friends in a hospital will discover that putting one of these jackets on the book will do more to raise the spirits of the sick or injured friend than a visit from his or her favorite nurse or intern.

Including a set of these jackets in a package to be mailed to a friend or relative in the armed forces is guaranteed to delight not only the recipient but the whole regiment as well.

If you have never written a book, but might enjoy creating a book title suitable for making up as a comic book jacket, send your ideas to us today. We can't guarantee you they will be used, nor that you will receive any financial reward, but at least you will have had the satisfaction of knowing that you may have contributed in some small way to keeping your fellow Americans smiling.

LEISTER GAME CO., Inc.
9 N. St. Clair Street
TOLEDO 4, OHIO

© 1959 Litho in U. S. A.

Jacket designed by Roger Crawford

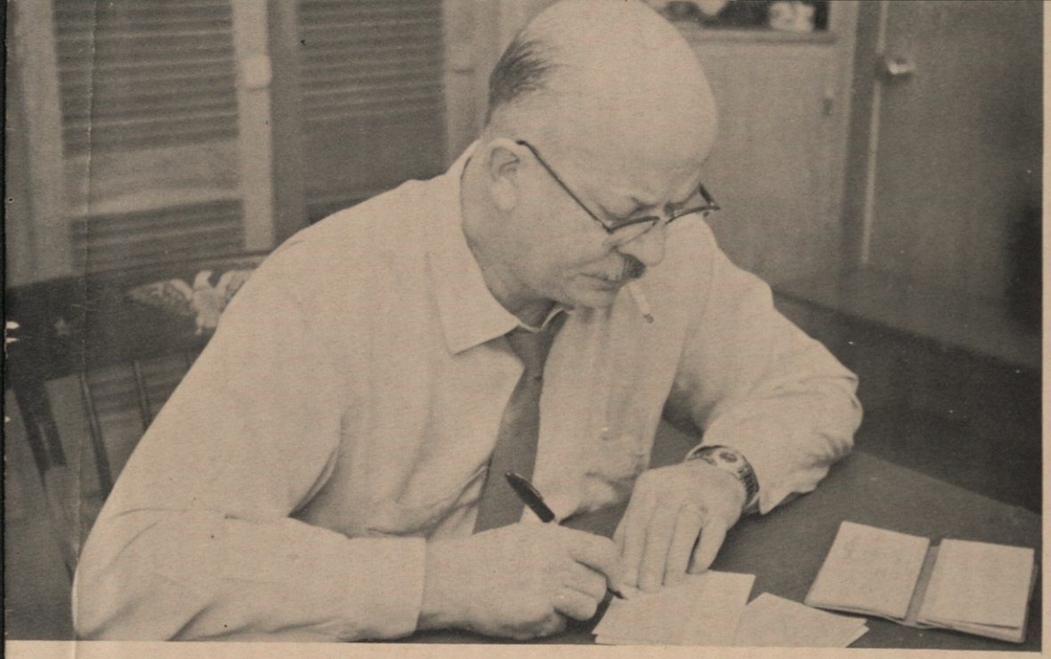


Photo by Emily Worcester
Courtesy LEAVENWORTH CHRONICLE

PASHA BADCHEK

WHAT BOOK REVIEWERS ACROSS THE NATION SAY ABOUT "FORGERY" - SELF TAUGHT", BADCHEK'S GREAT BEST-SELLING NOVEL.

"... towers over most other living novelists by his ability to explain in simple language some of the intricacies and pitfalls of this almost lost art."
Ron Nofunds, New York Blade Book Review

"A true expose of such majestic proportions as one rarely encounters... a beautiful and a near-perfect masterpiece."
Hubert Updike, Toronto Tribune

"Has all the ingredients which makes a novel become a permanent part of American literature." Wendie Barroom, Erie Bleat

"A must for the reader who demands the finest in literary artistry." Fannie Paychek, Chicago World

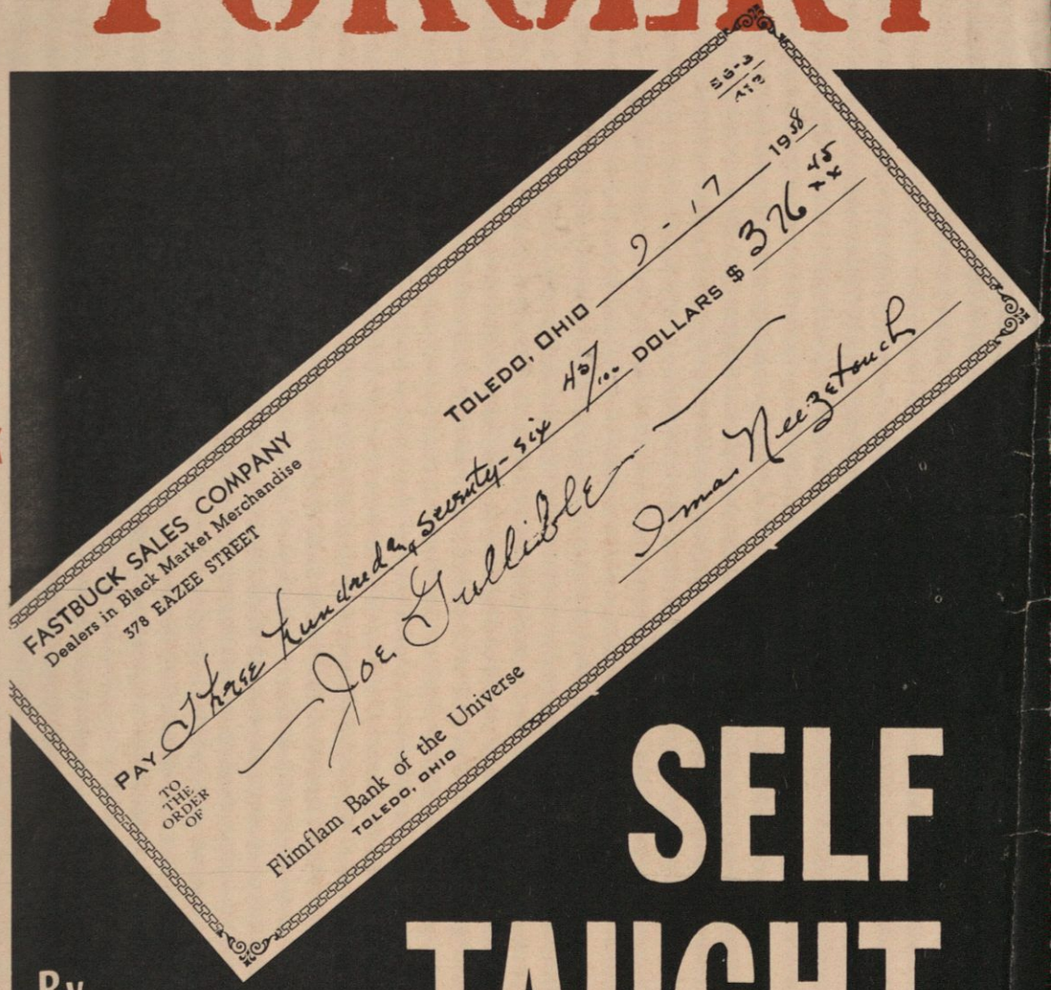
"How agreeable it is to read a novel by an author who has no guilty feelings about discussing with such geniune frankness a subject so distasteful to so many."
Herman Krausmeyer - Goat Breeders Gazette

FORGERY
SELF TAUGHT

PASHA BADCHEK

DUBBLEOR NUTHIN

FORGERY



FASTBUCK SALES COMPANY
Dealers in Black Market Merchandise
378 EAZEE STREET
TOLEDO, OHIO 2-17 19 58
PAY Three Hundred Seventy-six 45/100 DOLLARS $ 376 45
TO THE ORDER OF
Flimflam Bank of the Universe
TOLEDO, OHIO
Joe Gullible
Irma Neezetouch

SELF TAUGHT

By PASHA BADCHEK

.....MONEY IN THE BANK THE EASY WAY

Comic Book Jackets

- By -

REGINALD S. LEISTER

This series of ridiculous and amusing book jackets was developed to provide thousands of Americans with an opportunity to amaze and amuse their friends and party guests with a new and different form of subtle humor.

As the author himself has discovered from personal observation, the biggest thrill which comes to the owner of a set of these comic book jackets lies in his ability to put them on regular books and display them in rather conspicuous places in the living or recreation room before a party. Then notice the looks of consternation and complete bewilderment when a guest picks up a book to examine it for himself, and observe the rather sheepish grin that comes over the unsuspecting guest when he discovers how he has been taken in.

High school and college students will discover these book jackets can provide them with a never-ending source of fun for fooling members of the faculty, as well as fellow students, without the danger of being expelled from the institution of learning. Picture the look of surprise on the librarian's face or the teacher in charge of a study hall when she sees a student intently poring over tomorrow's assignment for Chemistry, and the jacket on the text book reads "Forgery-Self-Taught".

Persons desirous of attracting attention or of making new friends and influencing people under rather unusual conditions will discover these book jackets are truly the answer to their problem, especially if displayed while commuting on the bus or trolley; when traveling by plane or train; when

(Continued on back flap)

(Continued from front flap)

lying on the beach; while waiting for a friend on a street corner, or in a hotel lobby; or when dining alone in a strange restaurant.

Testimonial letters from traveling salesmen state that this new type of book jacket is worth its weight in gold as a stimulant for lagging conversation with a buyer, or as a means of breaking the ice with a tough purchasing agent, especially if the book is casually laid on the prospect's desk and then simply wait until his curiosity at seeing such a book can contain itself no longer.

Persons faced with the problem of buying a gift for the man or woman who has everything, will find an economical and satisfying solution by presenting a set of these jackets.

Those who enjoy giving books to friends in a hospital will discover that putting one of these jackets on the book will do more to raise the spirits of the sick or injured friend than a visit from his or her favorite nurse or intern.

Including a set of these jackets in a package to be mailed to a friend or relative in the armed forces is guaranteed to delight not only the recipient but the whole regiment as well.

If you have never written a book, but might enjoy creating a book title suitable for making up as a comic book jacket, send your ideas to us today. We can't guarantee you they will be used, nor that you will receive any financial reward, but at least you will have had the satisfaction of knowing that you may have contributed in some small way to keeping your fellow Americans smiling.

LEISTER GAME CO., Inc.
9 N. St. Clair Street
TOLEDO 4, OHIO

© 1959 Litho in U. S. A.

Jacket designed by Roger Crawford

About the Author

Dr. U. Batture Noggin was born in Caracas, Venezuela. He received his secondary education in his native land. In 1925 he came to the United States where he was graduated from New York City Barbers College in 1929. He also attended evening classes at Prof. Claude Cranium's School of Phrenology and Palmistry where he obtained his master's degree in 1931.

Because of Dr. Noggin's insatiable desire for world travel he sailed for Africa in 1933 where he remained until 1957. During his 24 years in the dark continent, he lived with various native tribes, learning their languages and customs. It was during his stay with the Ubangi tribe of Central Africa that he first came in contact with the ancient art of head shrinking. According to Dr. Noggin, he is the first and only white man ever to learn the secret of this African custom and to be able to leave the country alive. His ability to relate in vivid detail the various and hitherto unknown steps in the art of head shrinking makes this literary gem one of the outstanding educational books of the past decade.

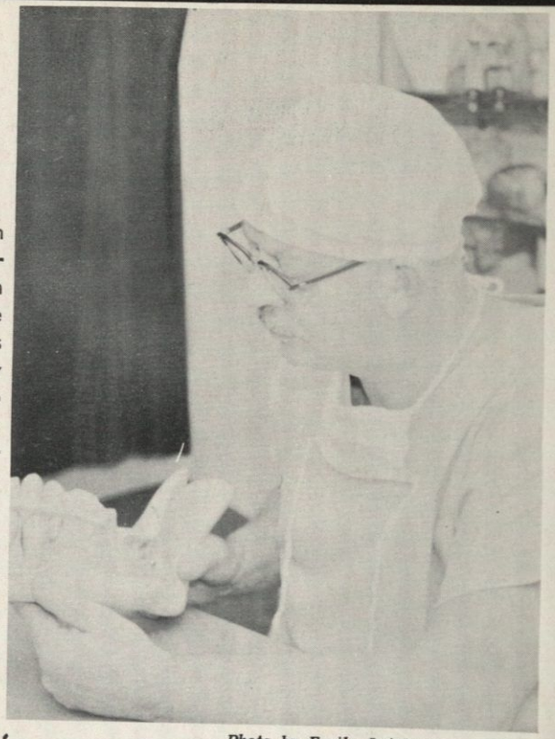


Photo by Emily Leister
Courtesy AMERICAN GEOGRAPHIC MAGAZINE

What the Critics are Saying. . . .

"It is artfully written with delicacy and skill. Truly the work of a man who knows his subject. Here is a must for any man or woman anxious to take up a new hobby."

Frank Blisterpuss - Schenectady Times Union

"Not in a blue moon have I read such an absorbing treatise on a brand new hobby. I'm now looking for my first subject."

Arnie Westenheimer - Outdoor Trapper's Magazine

"A fascinating work, vivid and haunting."

Boris K. Morris - Editor, The Campfire Girls Magazine

"For its engrossing story, its hair-raising drama, its blood curdling details, this new book by Noggin is a true literary discovery."

Bill Balduff - Policeman's Gazette

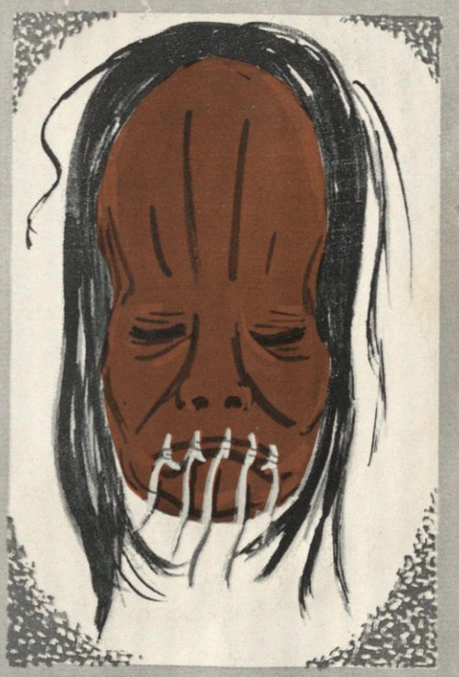
HEAD SHRINKING For The Beginner

DR. U. BATTURE NOGGIN

MISSIONARY PRESS

HEAD SHRINKING

FOR THE BEGINNER



By DR. U. BATTURE NOGGIN

Comic Book Jackets

- By -

REGINALD S. LEISTER

This series of ridiculous and amusing book jackets was developed to provide thousands of Americans with an opportunity to amaze and amuse their friends and party guests with a new and different form of subtle humor.

As the author himself has discovered from personal observation, the biggest thrill which comes to the owner of a set of these comic book jackets lies in his ability to put them on regular books and display them in rather conspicuous places in the living or recreation room before a party. Then notice the looks of consternation and complete bewilderment when a guest picks up a book to examine it for himself, and observe the rather sheepish grin that comes over the unsuspecting guest when he discovers how he has been taken in.

High school and college students will discover these book jackets can provide them with a never-ending source of fun for fooling members of the faculty, as well as fellow students, without the danger of being expelled from the institution of learning. Picture the look of surprise on the librarian's face or the teacher in charge of a study hall when she sees a student intently poring over tomorrow's assignment for Chemistry, and the jacket on the text book reads "Forgery-Self-Taught".

Persons desirous of attracting attention or of making new friends and influencing people under rather unusual conditions will discover these book jackets are truly the answer to their problem, especially if displayed while commuting on the bus or trolley; when traveling by plane or train; when

(Continued on back flap)

(Continued from front flap)

lying on the beach; while waiting for a friend on a street corner, or in a hotel lobby; or when dining alone in a strange restaurant.

Testimonial letters from traveling salesmen state that this new type of book jacket is worth its weight in gold as a stimulant for lagging conversation with a buyer, or as a means of breaking the ice with a tough purchasing agent, especially if the book is casually laid on the prospect's desk and then simply wait until his curiosity at seeing such a book can contain itself no longer.

Persons faced with the problem of buying a gift for the man or woman who has everything, will find an economical and satisfying solution by presenting a set of these jackets.

Those who enjoy giving books to friends in a hospital will discover that putting one of these jackets on the book will do more to raise the spirits of the sick or injured friend than a visit from his or her favorite nurse or intern.

Including a set of these jackets in a package to be mailed to a friend or relative in the armed forces is guaranteed to delight not only the recipient but the whole regiment as well.

If you have never written a book, but might enjoy creating a book title suitable for making up as a comic book jacket, send your ideas to us today. We can't guarantee you they will be used, nor that you will receive any financial reward, but at least you will have had the satisfaction of knowing that you may have contributed in some small way to keeping your fellow Americans smiling.

LEISTER GAME CO., Inc.
9 N. St. Clair Street
TOLEDO 4, OHIO

© 1959

Litho in U. S. A.

Jacket designed by Roger Crawford

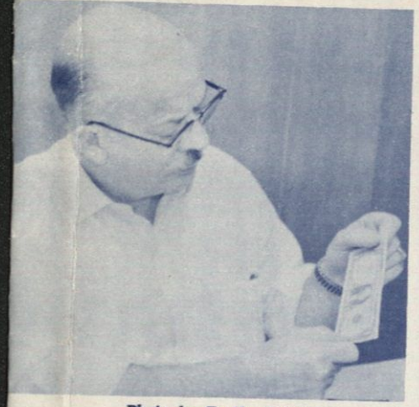


Photo by Emily Leister
Courtesy F.B.I. FILES

About The Author

CHARLIE MAKANEZEBUCK, pick-pocket, confidence man, racketeer, and forgery expert, was born and raised on New York's Lower East Side and is now a citizen of Happy Hollow, Arkansas, where he has been living on his modest 2,000 acre cattle ranch since he was paroled from Leavenworth Federal Penitentiary in 1956. His brand of writing, which combines the knowledge of an expert in the field of crime with the artistry of a successful novelist, enables him to put in print, years of authentic background material with such geniune frankness and talent that the reader becomes an avid admirer after the first few chapters.

What the Critics are Saying. . . .

"Entertaining in every respect"
Edgar Penman - Tiffin, Ohio, Advertiser Tribune

"This book had such an effect on me that I shall not dare to complain of anything to the warden again".
No. 270659 - Alcatraz Prison

"A staggering document. Its frankness, its alertness, its devotion to detail, makes it a reading experience which cannot be forgotten."
Archie Fastbuck - Pittsburgh Post Gazette

"Charlie Makanezebuck develops a delicate and controversial theme with dignity, restraint and moving simplicity".
Oscar Flugle - Washington, D.C. Times-Star

"Certainly it is the best book on counterfeiting that an American has written for many years".
Louie Schmitz - Chicago Tribune

"In his new book "Learn Counterfeiting at Home", Charlie Makanezebuck writes in a serene and radiant style. He does not flinch at telling the truth about his profession. He brings to his readers the harvested wisdom of a lifetime of crime".
T. Thomas Tuppen - St. Louis Post Dispatch

LEARN COUNTERFEITING AT HOME

FAKE PRINT PRESS

LEARN COUNTERFEITING AT HOME

By CHARLIE MAKANEZEBUCK

Comic Book Jackets

- By -

REGINALD S. LEISTER

This series of ridiculous and amusing book jackets was developed to provide thousands of Americans with an opportunity to amaze and amuse their friends and party guests with a new and different form of subtle humor.

As the author himself has discovered from personal observation, the biggest thrill which comes to the owner of a set of these comic book jackets lies in his ability to put them on regular books and display them in rather conspicuous places in the living or recreation room before a party. Then notice the looks of consternation and complete bewilderment when a guest picks up a book to examine it for himself, and observe the rather sheepish grin that comes over the unsuspecting guest when he discovers how he has been taken in.

High school and college students will discover these book jackets can provide them with a never-ending source of fun for fooling members of the faculty, as well as fellow students, without the danger of being expelled from the institution of learning. Picture the look of surprise on the librarian's face or the teacher in charge of a study hall when she sees a student intently poring over tomorrow's assignment for Chemistry, and the jacket on the text book reads "Forgery-Self-Taught".

Persons desirous of attracting attention or of making new friends and influencing people under rather unusual conditions will discover these book jackets are truly the answer to their problem, especially if displayed while commuting on the bus or trolley; when traveling by plane or train; when

(Continued on back flap)

(Continued from front flap)

lying on the beach; while waiting for a friend on a street corner, or in a hotel lobby; or when dining alone in a strange restaurant.

Testimonial letters from traveling salesmen state that this new type of book jacket is worth its weight in gold as a stimulant for lagging conversation with a buyer, or as a means of breaking the ice with a tough purchasing agent, especially if the book is casually laid on the prospect's desk and then simply wait until his curiosity at seeing such a book can contain itself no longer.

Persons faced with the problem of buying a gift for the man or woman who has everything, will find an economical and satisfying solution by presenting a set of these jackets.

Those who enjoy giving books to friends in a hospital will discover that putting one of these jackets on the book will do more to raise the spirits of the sick or injured friend than a visit from his or her favorite nurse or intern.

Including a set of these jackets in a package to be mailed to a friend or relative in the armed forces is guaranteed to delight not only the recipient but the whole regiment as well.

If you have never written a book, but might enjoy creating a book title suitable for making up as a comic book jacket, send your ideas to us today. We can't guarantee you they will be used, nor that you will receive any financial reward, but at least you will have had the satisfaction of knowing that you may have contributed in some small way to keeping your fellow Americans smiling.

LEISTER GAME CO., Inc.
9 N. St. Clair Street
TOLEDO 4, OHIO

© 1959 Litho in U.S.A.

Jacket designed by Roger Crawford

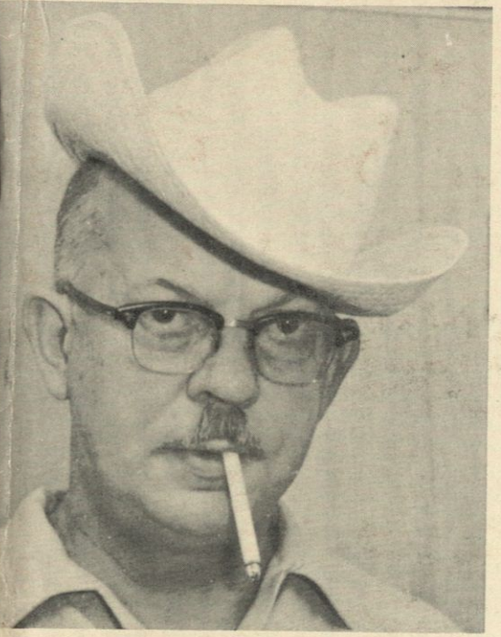

Photo by Emily Worcester

About the Author

P. "Biff" Dukes, was born in Shooting Hollow, Texas. His schooling ended in the 7th grade when he was expelled for burning down the school. The "P" in Mr. P. Duke's name stands for "Percy" which he was forced to drop when he became a professional prize fighter. "Biff" also spent a number of years as a cow hand, farmer, dock hand, sailor, soldier of fortune, and dealer in a gambling casino in Havana. In 1954, "Biff" completed a correspondence course in journalism. His next 2 years were spent on the city desk of the Dallas Times Herald. It was during his time as a newspaper writer that "Biff" wrote his tremendously exhilarating first novel. It is artfully written and his straightforward, down to earth style of narration makes this book a reading experience that will not soon be forgotten. "Biff" also worked as a consultant with the authors of the song hit "Tom Dooley".

WHAT THE CRITICS ARE SAYING . . .

"I understand "Biff" Dukes came from a town which was so small they didn't have a village idiot. Everybody took turns. This undoubtedly accounts for his new book being so screamingly funny."
Jack Douglas - Jack Paar Show

"Demands comparison with the very best novels of our century. "Biff" Dukes has become a truly important writer."
"Digger" O'Dell - Nat'l Mortician's Society

"We have finally discovered a man who can write, worthy of a Nobel Prize."
Davey Jones - American Cemetery Assn.

"In his new book, Lynching As A Community Project, "Biff" Dukes focuses his talents on a problem close to the hearts of many small town dwellers."
Mayor Joe Tightknot - Walla Walla, Washington

"Scholarly, accurate and exciting. Should prove a real boon to the rope industry."
John Longneck - Sec'y, Nat'l Hardware Dealer's Assn.

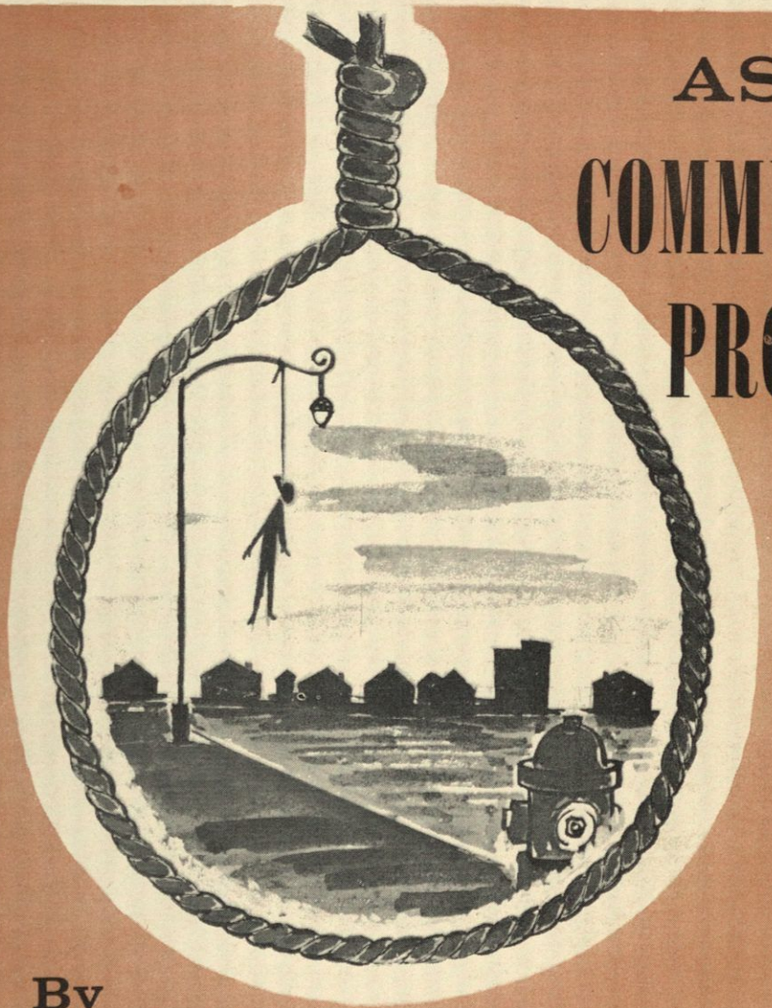
KAHL BROS., TOLEDO, OHIO

LYNCHING AS A COMMUNITY PROJECT

SIMON & ROOSTER

LYNCHING

AS A COMMUNITY PROJECT



By

P. "BIFF" DUKES

Comic Book Jackets

- By -

REGINALD S. LEISTER

This series of ridiculous and amusing book jackets was developed to provide thousands of Americans with an opportunity to amaze and amuse their friends and party guests with a new and different form of subtle humor.

As the author himself has discovered from personal observation, the biggest thrill which comes to the owner of a set of these comic book jackets lies in his ability to put them on regular books and display them in rather conspicuous places in the living or recreation room before a party. Then notice the looks of consternation and complete bewilderment when a guest picks up a book to examine it for himself, and observe the rather sheepish grin that comes over the unsuspecting guest when he discovers how he has been taken in.

High school and college students will discover these book jackets can provide them with a never-ending source of fun for fooling members of the faculty, as well as fellow students, without the danger of being expelled from the institution of learning. Picture the look of surprise on the librarian's face or the teacher in charge of a study hall when she sees a student intently poring over tomorrow's assignment for Chemistry, and the jacket on the text book reads "Forgery-Self-Taught".

Persons desirous of attracting attention or of making new friends and influencing people under rather unusual conditions will discover these book jackets are truly the answer to their problem, especially if displayed while commuting on the bus or trolley; when traveling by plane or train; when

(Continued on back flap)

(Continued from front flap)

lying on the beach; while waiting for a friend on a street corner, or in a hotel lobby; or when dining alone in a strange restaurant.

Testimonial letters from traveling salesmen state that this new type of book jacket is worth its weight in gold as a stimulant for lagging conversation with a buyer, or as a means of breaking the ice with a tough purchasing agent, especially if the book is casually laid on the prospect's desk and then simply wait until his curiosity at seeing such a book can contain itself no longer.

Persons faced with the problem of buying a gift for the man or woman who has everything, will find an economical and satisfying solution by presenting a set of these jackets.

Those who enjoy giving books to friends in a hospital will discover that putting one of these jackets on the book will do more to raise the spirits of the sick or injured friend than a visit from his or her favorite nurse or intern.

Including a set of these jackets in a package to be mailed to a friend or relative in the armed forces is guaranteed to delight not only the recipient but the whole regiment as well.

If you have never written a book, but might enjoy creating a book title suitable for making up as a comic book jacket, send your ideas to us today. We can't guarantee you they will be used, nor that you will receive any financial reward, but at least you will have had the satisfaction of knowing that you may have contributed in some small way to keeping your fellow Americans smiling.

LEISTER GAME CO., Inc.
9 N. St. Clair Street
TOLEDO 4, OHIO

© 1959

Litho in U. S. A.

Jacket designed by Roger Crawford

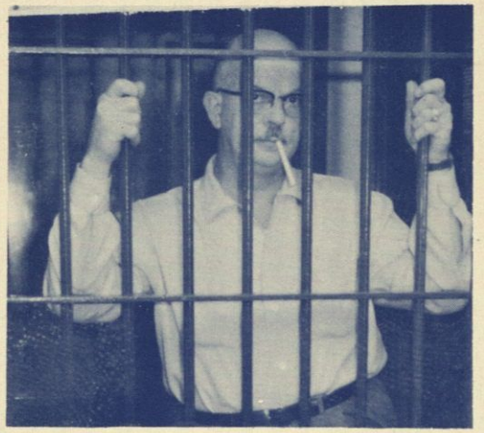

Photo by Emily Worcester
Courtesy LEAVENWORTH CHRONICLE

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Ronnie G. Swindler, or "Fingers" Swindler, as he is best known among members of the underworld, was born in 1908 in Brooklyn, N.Y. His first run-in with the law was at the tender age of 3 when he was caught stealing smoked herring from "Pop" Fluglemann's Delicatessen. Following his expulsion from public school No. 42, he really embarked on a crime career that was to keep him behind bars for most of his next 32 years. "Fingers" always operated as a lone wolf and vowed on his 21st birthday that he would win for himself the dubious honor of World's Greatest Safecracker, a title which police officials unanimously conferred upon him 10 years later following his robbery of the U.S. Mint in 1947.

Ronnie Swindler is now 51 years old and lives on a 2,000 acre estate in upper New York State. In his retirement, which followed his release from Alcatraz in 1957, Mr. Swindler has devoted most of his time to his literary pursuits. Ronnie has a wide and intimate acquaintance with the wardens of practically all of the federal and state penitentiaries in the United States. He is presently serving as consultant to several leading safe manufacturers.

His first volume, with its force, power and clear insight into the perplexing affairs involved in a life of crime, is destined to become Mr. Swindler's outstanding work. It is already being hailed by important literary leaders as a work of lasting importance, prophetic in its scope, as well as powerful in its brilliant and vigorous realism.

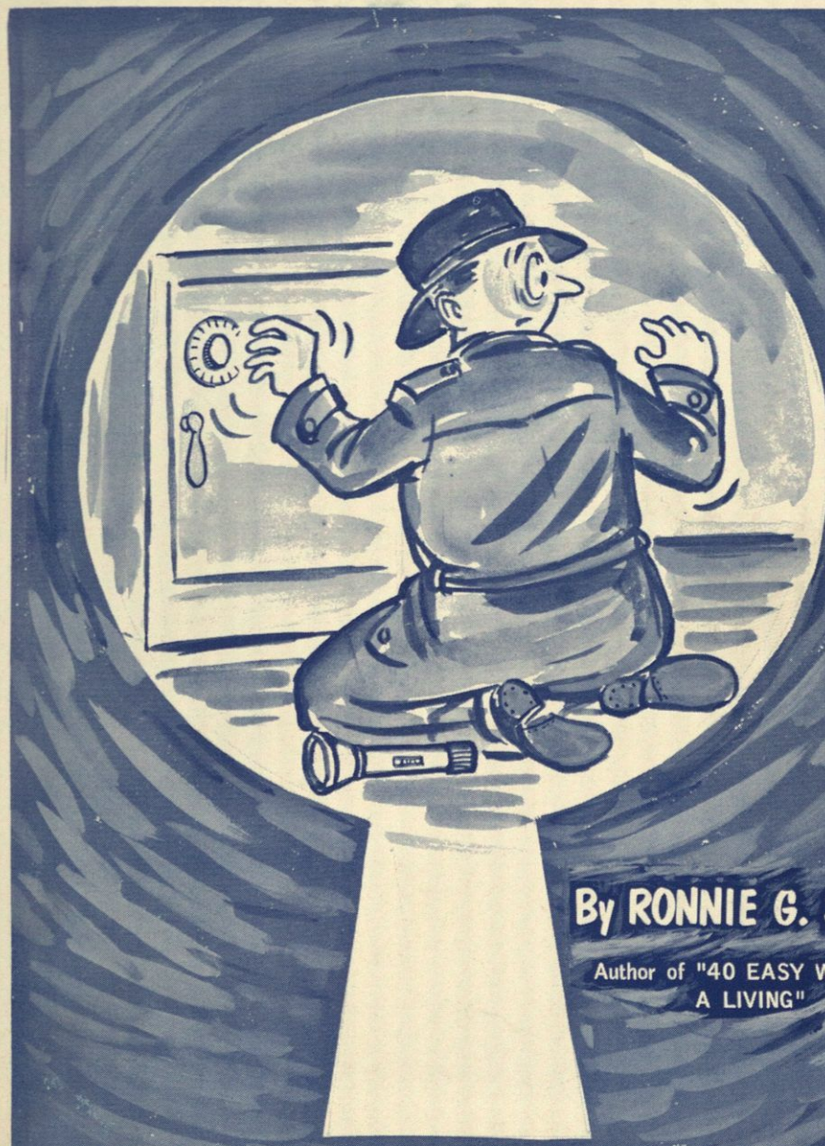
SO YOU WANT TO BE A SAFE CRACKER

SWINDLER

SING SING PRESS

SO YOU WANT TO BE A

SAFECRACKER



By RONNIE G. SWINDLER

Author of "40 EASY WAYS TO MAKE A LIVING"

Comic Book Jackets

- By -

REGINALD S. LEISTER

This series of ridiculous and amusing book jackets was developed to provide thousands of Americans with an opportunity to amaze and amuse their friends and party guests with a new and different form of subtle humor.

As the author himself has discovered from personal observation, the biggest thrill which comes to the owner of a set of these comic book jackets lies in his ability to put them on regular books and display them in rather conspicuous places in the living or recreation room before a party. Then notice the looks of consternation and complete bewilderment when a guest picks up a book to examine it for himself, and observe the rather sheepish grin that comes over the unsuspecting guest when he discovers how he has been taken in.

High school and college students will discover these book jackets can provide them with a never-ending source of fun for fooling members of the faculty, as well as fellow students, without the danger of being expelled from the institution of learning. Picture the look of surprise on the librarian's face or the teacher in charge of a study hall when she sees a student intently poring over tomorrow's assignment for Chemistry, and the jacket on the text book reads "Forgery-Self-Taught".

Persons desirous of attracting attention or of making new friends and influencing people under rather unusual conditions will discover these book jackets are truly the answer to their problem, especially if displayed while commuting on the bus or trolley; when traveling by plane or train; when

(Continued on back flap)

(Continued from front flap)

lying on the beach; while waiting for a friend on a street corner, or in a hotel lobby; or when dining alone in a strange restaurant.

Testimonial letters from traveling salesmen state that this new type of book jacket is worth its weight in gold as a stimulant for lagging conversation with a buyer, or as a means of breaking the ice with a tough purchasing agent, especially if the book is casually laid on the prospect's desk and then simply wait until his curiosity at seeing such a book can contain itself no longer.

Persons faced with the problem of buying a gift for the man or woman who has everything, will find an economical and satisfying solution by presenting a set of these jackets.

Those who enjoy giving books to friends in a hospital will discover that putting one of these jackets on the book will do more to raise the spirits of the sick or injured friend than a visit from his or her favorite nurse or intern.

Including a set of these jackets in a package to be mailed to a friend or relative in the armed forces is guaranteed to delight not only the recipient but the whole regiment as well.

If you have never written a book, but might enjoy creating a book title suitable for making up as a comic book jacket, send your ideas to us today. We can't guarantee you they will be used, nor that you will receive any financial reward, but at least you will have had the satisfaction of knowing that you may have contributed in some small way to keeping your fellow Americans smiling.

LEISTER GAME CO., Inc.
9 N. St. Clair Street
TOLEDO 4, OHIO

© 1959

Litho in U. S. A.

Jacket designed by Roger Crawford

About the Author

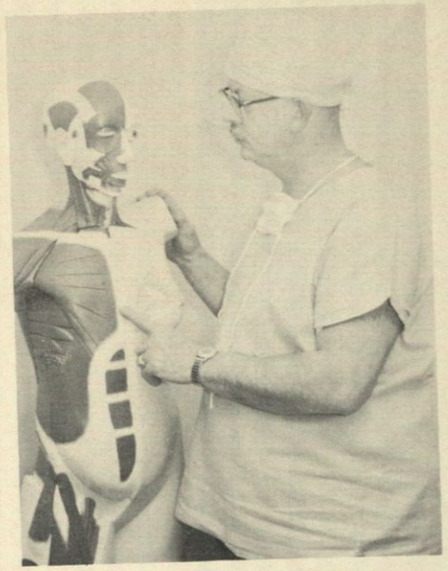


Photo by Emily Leister
Courtesy PROFITABLE HOBBIES MAGAZINE

Dr. Rudyard Suture is a distinguished, internationally acclaimed surgeon, whose views on medical matters are highly regarded in official circles. He gained national recognition in 1952 with his best seller "Self Amputation May Be Painless" which is claimed with authority to have had an important influence on the practice of medicine in the home.

Dr. Suture has also developed a complete line of hand made surgical knives which he recently placed on the market for sale through leading hobby stores.

This present volume with its simple everyday medical terms is destined to become Dr. Suture's outstanding work. Although surgery in the home is an object of bitter controversy, it is already being hailed by important men in the field of medicine as a work of lasting importance.

JUST BEFORE GOING TO PRESS WITH THIS BOOK, THE PUBLISHERS SENT GALLEY PROOFS TO A NUMBER OF PEOPLE. HERE ARE A FEW OF THE COMMENTS RECEIVED:

"I had to pay 24 cents in postage due charges on the manuscript you sent me. Cheez -- what a bunch of cheapskates."
Doris Littlebottom - Pumpkin Center, Ind.

"I'll be glad to return the manuscript as soon as you can advise me the prevailing rates on a good review as compared to my saying it's a Dud, which I think it is".
Herman Trueswell - Garden City, N.Y.

"My ex-husband, Dr. Rudyard Suture, has already read the manuscript to me several times. You may contact my attorney."
Ruth Suture - San Juan, Puerto Rico

"Humbug".
Charlie Dickenson - Ashtabula, Ohio

"Listen, Dad, I don't dig this medical stuff. Send me something I'm hep to like be-bop or rock'n roll. Crazy, man, crazy."
"Bugs" Petrostrano

SURGERY
A Profitable Hobby

DR.
RUDYARD
SUTURE

MEDICAL PRESS

SURGERY...
A PROFITABLE HOBBY

by Dr. Rudyard Suture

ALL 20 CHAPTERS OF THIS BOOK, WITH AN EXTRA LARGE APPENDIX, ARE GUARANTEED TO KEEP YOU IN STITCHES

Comic Book Jackets

- By -

REGINALD S. LEISTER

This series of ridiculous and amusing book jackets was developed to provide thousands of Americans with an opportunity to amaze and amuse their friends and party guests with a new and different form of subtle humor.

As the author himself has discovered from personal observation, the biggest thrill which comes to the owner of a set of these comic book jackets lies in his ability to put them on regular books and display them in rather conspicuous places in the living or recreation room before a party. Then notice the looks of consternation and complete bewilderment when a guest picks up a book to examine it for himself, and observe the rather sheepish grin that comes over the unsuspecting guest when he discovers how he has been taken in.

High school and college students will discover these book jackets can provide them with a never-ending source of fun for fooling members of the faculty, as well as fellow students, without the danger of being expelled from the institution of learning. Picture the look of surprise on the librarian's face or the teacher in charge of a study hall when she sees a student intently poring over tomorrow's assignment for Chemistry, and the jacket on the text book reads "Forgery-Self-Taught".

Persons desirous of attracting attention or of making new friends and influencing people under rather unusual conditions will discover these book jackets are truly the answer to their problem, especially if displayed while commuting on the bus or trolley; when traveling by plane or train; when

(Continued on back flap)

(Continued from front flap)

lying on the beach; while waiting for a friend on a street corner, or in a hotel lobby; or when dining alone in a strange restaurant.

Testimonial letters from traveling salesmen state that this new type of book jacket is worth its weight in gold as a stimulant for lagging conversation with a buyer, or as a means of breaking the ice with a tough purchasing agent, especially if the book is casually laid on the prospect's desk and then simply wait until his curiosity at seeing such a book can contain itself no longer.

Persons faced with the problem of buying a gift for the man or woman who has everything, will find an economical and satisfying solution by presenting a set of these jackets.

Those who enjoy giving books to friends in a hospital will discover that putting one of these jackets on the book will do more to raise the spirits of the sick or injured friend than a visit from his or her favorite nurse or intern.

Including a set of these jackets in a package to be mailed to a friend or relative in the armed forces is guaranteed to delight not only the recipient but the whole regiment as well.

If you have never written a book, but might enjoy creating a book title suitable for making up as a comic book jacket, send your ideas to us today. We can't guarantee you they will be used, nor that you will receive any financial reward, but at least you will have had the satisfaction of knowing that you may have contributed in some small way to keeping your fellow Americans smiling.

LEISTER GAME CO., Inc.
9 N. St. Clair Street
TOLEDO 4, OHIO

© 1959 Litho in U.S.A.

Jacket designed by Roger Crawford

About the Author

Photo by Emily Leister

Patrick J. O'Reilly, former warden of Sing Sing Prison, was born in Portland, Maine in 1908. Following his graduation from high school he obtained his B.A. degree in 1930 from the University of Maine, where he starred in baseball, football, track and wrestling. Following his graduation he took his first position, that of special investigator for the District Attorney of Boston, Massachusetts. For 7 years he was a member of the Canadian Mounted Police. Later he served for 3 years as a Texas Ranger. In 1949 he was appointed warden of Sing Sing. His experiences in this famous penal institution have provided him with a valuable fund of authentic background material which readers will immediately recognize in the skillful manner in which he gives vivid reality to every chapter of his new book.

WHAT THE CRITICS ARE SAYING . . . . .

"Electrifying, terrifying -- and all too true."
Bud Wattheimer - Electrical World

"Patrick J. O'Reilly is a first rate writer, and a very warm and amusing one."
William G. Hotbutt - Argyle Press

"In O'Reilly's new novel, the ex-warden of Sing Sing focuses his talents on a problem that is sure to prove interesting to his thousands of readers."
H. J. Kaczerski - Buffalo Evening News

"Although, 'HOW TO START A RIOT' is Patrick J. O'Reilly's first literary effort, it not only rings with the authority of an expert, but also, and more important, it exhibits unmistakably the talent of a born storyteller."
James J. Finkelbottom - Los Angeles Times

"Two weeks after reading O'Reilly's new book, I started my first riot. Boy was it a dandy. I am permitted to see visitors once a week."
Gus Brassnuckle - San Quentin Prison

"An exciting tale about excitable people. Entertaining in every respect."
Gertrude Swish - Farmer's Wife Magazine

KAHL BROS., TOLEDO, OHIO

HOW TO START A RIOT

Patrick J. O'Reilly

HOW TO START A RIOT

By Patrick J. O'Reilly

TRIPLEDAY PRESS

Comic Book Jackets

- By -

REGINALD S. LEISTER

This series of ridiculous and amusing book jackets was developed to provide thousands of Americans with an opportunity to amaze and amuse their friends and party guests with a new and different form of subtle humor.

As the author himself has discovered from personal observation, the biggest thrill which comes to the owner of a set of these comic book jackets lies in his ability to put them on regular books and display them in rather conspicuous places in the living or recreation room before a party. Then notice the looks of consternation and complete bewilderment when a guest picks up a book to examine it for himself, and observe the rather sheepish grin that comes over the unsuspecting guest when he discovers how he has been taken in.

High school and college students will discover these book jackets can provide them with a never-ending source of fun for fooling members of the faculty, as well as fellow students, without the danger of being expelled from the institution of learning. Picture the look of surprise on the librarian's face or the teacher in charge of a study hall when she sees a student intently poring over tomorrow's assignment for Chemistry, and the jacket on the text book reads "Forgery-Self-Taught".

Persons desirous of attracting attention or of making new friends and influencing people under rather unusual conditions will discover these book jackets are truly the answer to their problem, especially if displayed while commuting on the bus or trolley; when traveling by plane or train; when

(Continued on back flap)

(Continued from front flap)

lying on the beach; while waiting for a friend on a street corner, or in a hotel lobby; or when dining alone in a strange restaurant.

Testimonial letters from traveling salesmen state that this new type of book jacket is worth its weight in gold as a stimulant for lagging conversation with a buyer, or as a means of breaking the ice with a tough purchasing agent, especially if the book is casually laid on the prospect's desk and then simply wait until his curiosity at seeing such a book can contain itself no longer.

Persons faced with the problem of buying a gift for the man or woman who has everything, will find an economical and satisfying solution by presenting a set of these jackets.

Those who enjoy giving books to friends in a hospital will discover that putting one of these jackets on the book will do more to raise the spirits of the sick or injured friend than a visit from his or her favorite nurse or intern.

Including a set of these jackets in a package to be mailed to a friend or relative in the armed forces is guaranteed to delight not only the recipient but the whole regiment as well.

If you have never written a book, but might enjoy creating a book title suitable for making up as a comic book jacket, send your ideas to us today. We can't guarantee you they will be used, nor that you will receive any financial reward, but at least you will have had the satisfaction of knowing that you may have contributed in some small way to keeping your fellow Americans smiling.

LEISTER GAME CO., Inc.
9 N. St. Clair Street
TOLEDO 4, OHIO

© 1959

Litho in U.S.A.

Jacket designed by Roger Crawford